

Tell me, what are you dancing ? (light version)

For this latest creation, accessible from the age of 5, the choreographer Séverine Bidaud revisits the universe of tales.

Four dancers for three tales : "The Little Match Girl", "Little Red Riding Hood" and "The Ugly Duckling".

One of the characters will travel more than the others do. In this way, as soon as the little merchant burns a match to warm herself in her sad nook, her imagination will enable her to enter and to interfere with the characters from the two other tales. As a result, an immersion in a fantasy world, for little and grown-up kids, in a Hip-hop spirit.

Dream and poetry give way to a burlesque atmosphere that combine sensible and absurd. A symbolic and dreamlike journey to childhood which questions the quest for the "inner transformation".
